

The Lifeplus foundation

Kenya 2017

In January, a small and enthusiastic Lifeplus Foundation team* set off to rural Southeast Kenya to visit some project sites where life has changed for people who now have clean, safe water.

They started by meeting the local partners at the African Sand Dam Foundation headquarters and learned about sand dam engineering and water safety.

They were greeted by the Kiluta sand dam community with lively singing and dancing, saw healthy crops growing, and heard stories from thankful community people.

And when the team had the chance to roll up their sleeves and work to help build a new sand dam, they welcomed it.

Then they drove the bumpy roads to visit schools where joyful children expressed their gratitude with song and poetry.

When they said goodbye, it was with the goal that another Lifeplus Foundation team would again return to find even more hopeful people living better lives.

“We laughed and cried, and we were moved by the beautiful spirit of the Kenyan people. We may not be able to fully capture this experience in words, but we can let it change us and inspire us to do more”.

It's only because of the many caring people who organized fundraisers, ran, walked, and cycled last year that over 2,000 children now have clean water in their schools.

Thank you!

We hope to see you this summer at the Lifeplus Foundation Fundraising Weekend, August 25 & 26 in Cologne, Germany!
